DEDICATION

The 1949 SIGHTS AND INSIGHTS staff is happy to dedicate its book to Dr. Francis Anscombe. During his many years at Salem, this little, white-haired professor with the deep-voiced laughter has captured Salem's fancy and love. He seems at times, when his roguish blue eyes dart around to see if everyone caught his latest joke, like nothing so much as some hearty old elf just escaped from the court of Queen Mab in an English forest.

Dr. Anscombe has, however, other and greater attributes than his whimsical humor. Anyone who has taken his Modern World history course knows that he is very much a man of today. Anyone who has heard him discourse on history, philosophy, religion, anthropology or astronomy, or delved into his research files that cover every topic from "Ethiopia" to the "Church in Germany", knows that he is truly a great scholar.

What has perhaps most endeared Dr. Anscombe to his students is his willingness to share himself with them—whether being King of the May in the faculty play or speaking at Sunday vespers. The things that we will long remember are his twinkling smile, his English refinement, his Old World air and his New World ideas. Through his personality, his mind and his deep religious faith, Dr. Anscombe has come to symbolize the essence of scholarship, wit and true wisdom to all Salemites who know and love him.

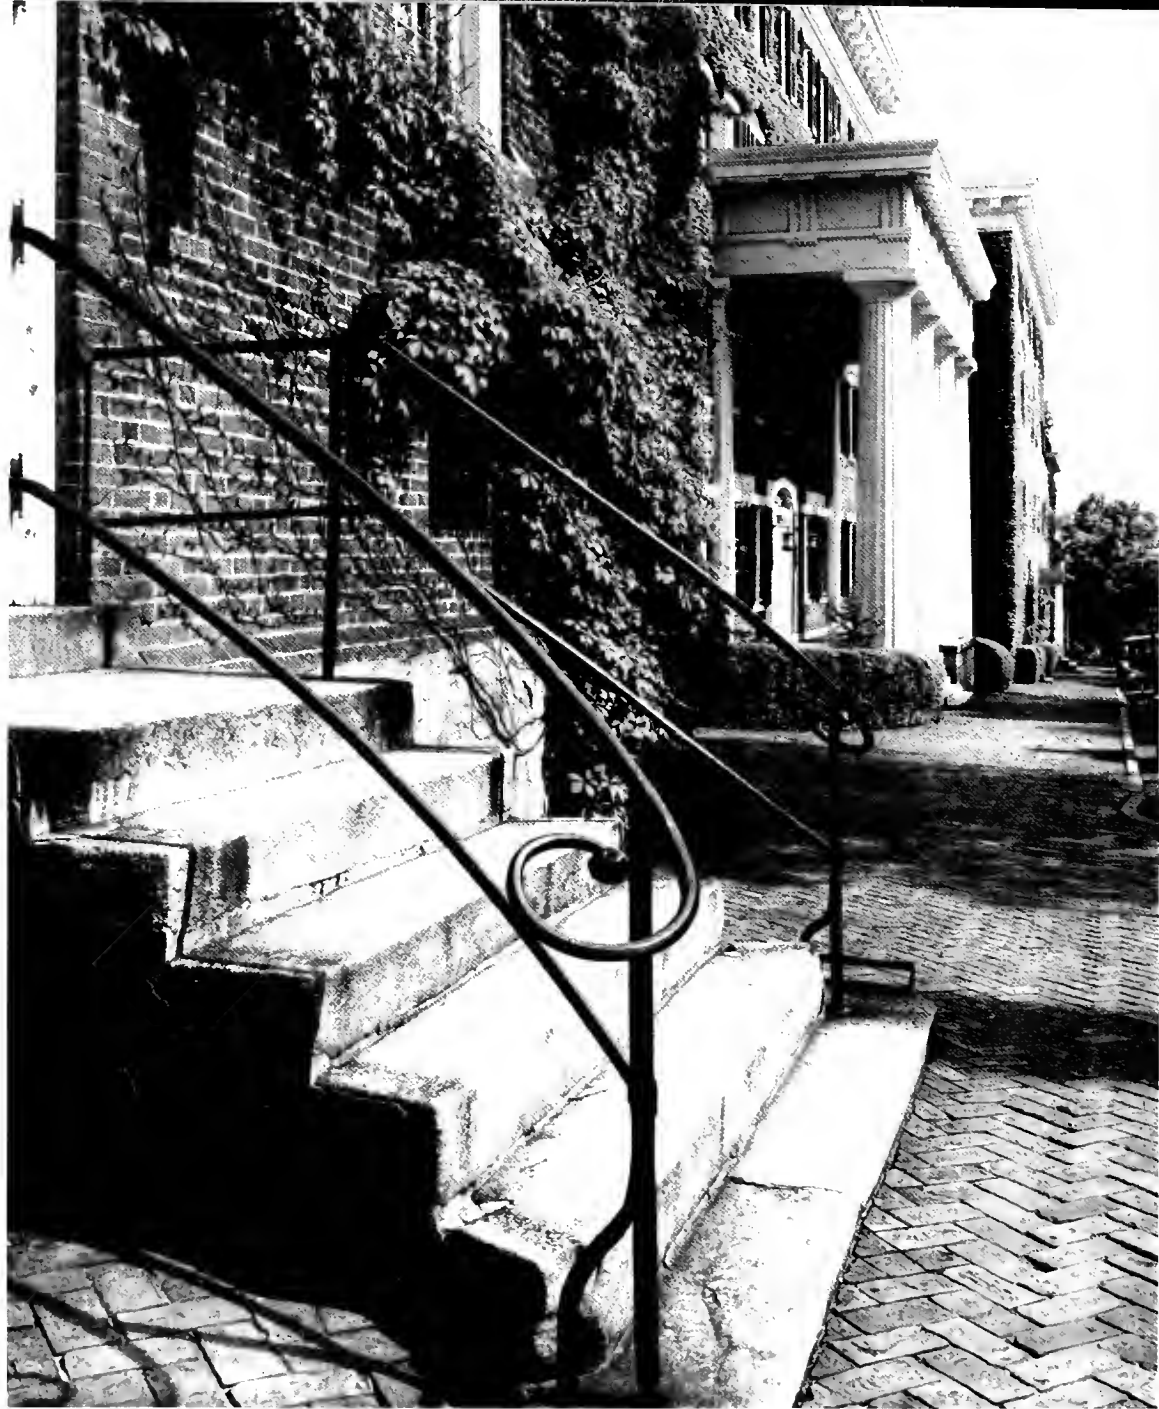

Throughout the history of Salem, an unmistakable tradition of culture, refinement and sound education has followed her. Her student body has, in each succeeding year, caught the air of friendliness and "together-ness" which can only be attained by a smaller group. Each year has found improvements in curriculum, social life and civic opportunities which have added vigor and life to a historical past. Her students have come to love and respect the intangible attributes which are Salem. We present this book to you, hoping that it will reflect the flavor of a year at Salem.

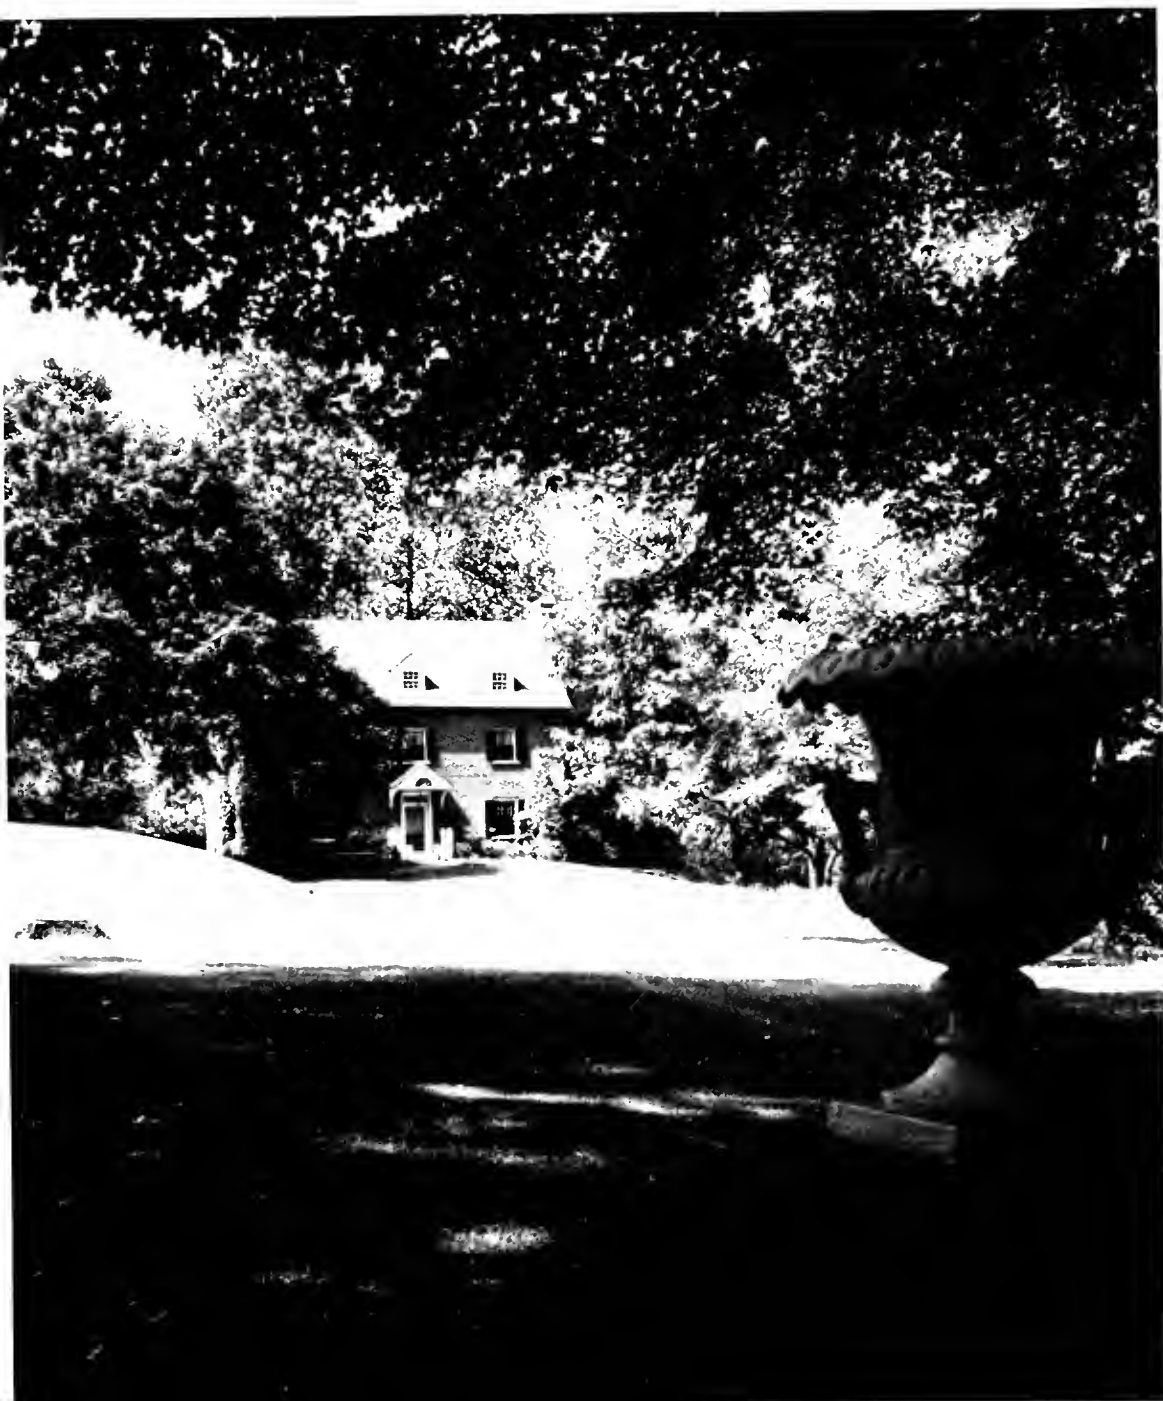

CONTENTS

To give you a picture of our college life, we present the following Saemesque. Leading off are our departing President and his First Lady, our dollar-wise trustees and Dr. Francis Anscombe, to whom this book is dedicated. To show you our natural surroundings, there are views of the campus and faculty faces for indoor scenery. You'll next want to know who we are, and to answer your question the classes march past—from venerable seniors to innocent freshmen. (As it says in the Alma Mater, "The joy of comradeship is here".) What do we do in our spare time? We join and join—membership is our favorite profession. The major organizations include Student Government for good behavior, the "Y" for development of our spiritual side, the IRS for manners, the SIGHTS AND INSIGHTS—just take a look for yourself, the Salemite for news and the May Day Committee for a beautiful May celebration. Doing their part in all activities are the Day Students and the Men's Organization. The minor organizations cover all our interests—public affairs, teaching, dramatics, linguistics, singing, homemaking or science. Leaders among us are the women of distinction: the Scorpions, noted for service; the Honor Society, known for its brains; and Who's Who, selected for both. The Athletics Section honors brawn and sports skill; the Feature Girls are an index to Salem personality, and the May Court reigns in beauty. To usher you to the end of our pageant we give you at last our Senior Marshals.

Old-fashioned hand-wrought iron rails lead into the Home Moravian Church while automobiles in the background serve as "gentle reminders" of the present.

Sunshine and trees give the Home Ec. Practice House a friendly air and, while comparatively new, it has taken on that Salem look of charm and tradition.

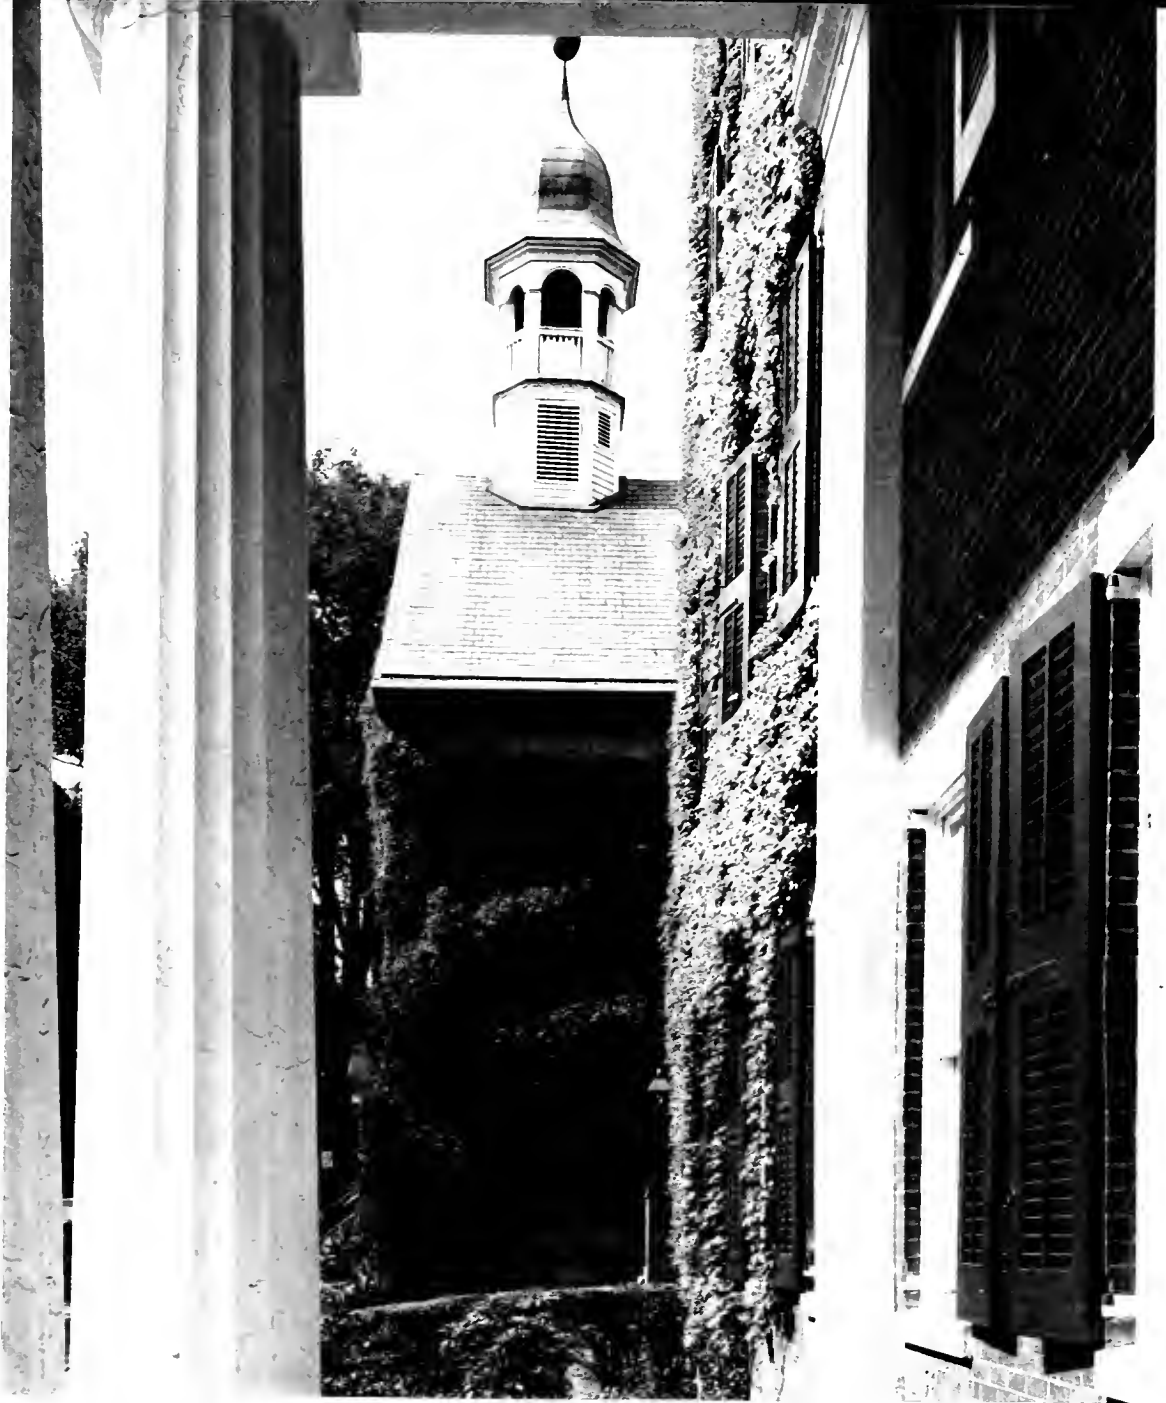

A new slant on an old view of Main Hall produces a little-noticed and rare combination of lines and angles, sunlight and shadows among ivy and bricks.

Through these doors pass all our ills of mind and body. Salemites usually pay one or two visits to the infirmary before their college years are over.

The spirit of Salem is embodied in the historical old Moravian church steeple and bell tower. Here it is seen from a different view - from the porch of Main Hall.

Looking down on a familiar climb to Memorial Hall where students congregate, lecturers articulate and music majors perpetrate their aspirations to another Music Hall - Carnegie.

A perfect spot for the May Queen and her attendants is the May Dell. The sun shone condescendingly here, but we aren't always as fortunate.

Give the ivy a few more years and the History Building, typical of Salem architecture, will have that Old Look.

The lily pond provides a welcome release from classroom and is a favorite setting for Y. It is and after-school chats. A few Salomites with time on their hands enjoy the life of Riley in the sunshine by the pool.

We were seniors and how big and important we felt! We fit amazingly well into our senior caps and gowns and what seemed even more amazing, we still felt a bit like freshmen, sophomores and juniors underneath the black folds and the tassels. Opening Convocation Exercises at the year's beginning, however, made us stop and think of how scared we were on that first exam three years before, how embarrassed when we got that first call-down for failure to sign in, how wonderful and collegiate we felt when we pinned on an orchid for that first Christmas dance, the big plans we always made for Christmas and Easter vacations. Yet here we were, the "old ladies", with all the experiences, privileges and memories that the title holds.

We proved, however, that we weren't quite ready for the lavender and old lace when we won the campus hockey championship. As further proof, we struggled through exams, comprehensives and G.R.E.'s without a noticeable breakdown.

Soon we began to realize that it would all be over and we could send home those chairs, boxes and chests for good. Questions like "What are you going to do?" began creeping into smokehouse bull sessions. The practice teachers merely sat back and looked wise, others shugged, and some mailed in applications with their signature on the dotted line.

Graduation - what can be said? The end of college. The beginning of what?

A L M A M A T E R

Strong are thy walls, oh Salem,
Thy virgin trees stand tall,
And far athwart the sunlit hills
Their stately shadows fall.

CHORUS

Then sing we of Salem ever,
As proudly her name we bear.
Long may our praise re-echo,
Far may our song ring clear.

Firm is our faith, oh Salem,
Thy future service sure;
The beauty of thy heritage
Forever shall endure.

True is our love, oh Salem,
Thy name we proudly own;
The joy of comradeship is here,
Thy spirit makes us one.

Then we were juniors—Big Sisters. The title was appropriate in more ways than one; for besides giving parties and advice to our freshman Little Sisters, we had acquired all the knowing superiority that characterizes older sisters. We felt wise when we went to bed the night before an exam. We enjoyed our martyrdom when we left the smokehouse after only one hand of bridge because we had a job to do.

As a class, we worked feverishly to make a go of Junior Breakfast and shuddered to think of the bills to be payed after the Christmas banquet and the Junior-Senior. As individuals, most of us were in a chronic stage of activitus. That is, we had our names on at least four club roles; and we did odds and ends for all the major organizations. With a jolt we realized that soon some of our own gang would fill those coveted "big" offices that had always held us in awe, and we took elections seriously that year.

Then there were those last three weeks when, with senior privileges and responsibilities, we gloated over no light-cuts and learned to divide every dish into ten equal portions without running out of food. This was also the time when the seniors, eating together and sharing a closeness that we could not quite penetrate, seemed like alumnae already; while we, frightened and proud at the same time, began to take their places.

We weren't very big because what can a sophomore do? We didn't get attention like freshmen, we weren't big enough for juniors and seniors were simply out of the question. No, we were just sophomores and we had to make the best of it. We floundered around in the sea of indecision—what field to major in? What extracurricular activity to concentrate on, the Salomite, the AA or the Y? What subjects to take? These were the questions and we groped feverishly for an answer.

We really got to throw around what weight we had during Rat Week. Our egos were inflated no little bit when hoards of freshmen bowed and scraped to us, got our mail and our breakfasts and ran our errands for three days. Rat Court night was the climax and then we took off our masks of severity and became human again.

The last of January and the first of March found us in the library feverishly (and somewhat sheepishly) reading Time, Life and the New York Times in preparation for Sophomore Comprehensives. We were expected to know all about the fine arts, science, politics, math, the social sciences and any other topic to which we'd never given particular attention.

We pulled through comprehensives uninjured and then came spring, room drawing and questions of whether to keep roommates or change. We'd passed through sophomore vagueness and were ready for the well-defined place of juniors.

We hate to use the old phrase "green freshmen" on ourselves, but that's just exactly what we felt like on September 18 and a month or so afterwards. Luckily, our senior advisers took groups of us off to various corners and, armed with a handbook, taught us all the in's and out's of Salem. We went through a hectic Orientation Week, during which we met roommates and campus officers, made friends, became homesick occasionally, drank plenty of cokes, went to parties given in our honor and learned to have our lights out at 11:30.

We were nursed through infancy up to the stage where we could elect our own class officers and then we really became part of the show, but not before the Mighty Sophomores put us in our respective places during Rat Week.

We hadn't quite shaken the high school dust off our feet when the first big formals came along and then we dressed up and looked as pretty as the next one. And how important we felt when we signed in the Date Book!

Exams were the first really big headaches but then we had plenty of Aspirin, and if others could do it, why couldn't we?

By now, we'd joined our clubs, some of us held offices and we took on that true-blue Salemite look. Before we knew it, the year was over, the high school dust was completely gone and we moved into Sophomore-hood.

"Honor" is the key word in this major organization. It is a self-governing organization of the students, by the students and for the students. Development of personal honor and self-government are not the only functions of the Stee Gee. At the beginning of school, the Stee Gee carried out a week of orientation during which the freshmen and new students learned the Salem do's and do not's, along with parties, cokes and plenty of comradeship to keep away those hometown blues.

During the year, members of the Stee Gee dragged out bits of crepe paper, hung stars and engaged an orchestra for their big formal. The dance figure was a bang-up job, not to mention the dance itself.

In the Spring, campus elections were carried on neatly, complete with ballots, campaigning and final victories.

Another successful Stee Gee year had passed with an even bigger year ahead.

"No kerchiefs in the dining room." "She's a Salem girl. You can tell by looking at her." "Wasn't the dance fun?"

It is the business of the IRS (I Represent Salem) Council to set the social standards along all lines at Salem. For example, the correct and incorrect method of dress was stressed throughout the year. Along with this, the IRS sponsored a make-up clinic and turned out a group of renovated beauties. Then came the big Christmas dance, a whirl of lace, satin, dates, flowers and music.

Through its activities, the IRS has truly helped Salemites keep ahead of the times in fashion and gracious living.

1949 SIGHTS

Add confusion, turmoil, headaches, bedlam and frequent glances at the calendar, mix well in a smoke-filled office and you have the perfect recipe for the editorial staff of the SIGHTS AND INSIGHTS. At the mention of the word "deadline," typewriters began clicking, ideas took shape, lists and pictures came in, there was fast and furious copy writing and revising, utter despair and a last final effort to beat that Dec. 15 deadline. Biles stayed behind the camera, Aiken made with the words, Smith and Green made a duplicate dummy, Johnson and Pierce ran wild collecting class pictures and Gillespie beat her head against the wall until at last, the 1949 SIGHTS AND INSIGHTS was born, a child of toil, tribulations and triumph.

The annual office stayed in a state of quiet confusion when the staff got together.

Lenkoski typed during the turmoil of picture proofing, copy writing and swapping of ideas.

AND INSIGHTS

EATON SEVILLE
Business Manager

The work of the SIGHTS AND INSIGHTS business staff started as soon in the fall as the girls could get their bags unpacked. "Money is tightening up" they were told, and that meant extra hard work, fast talking and a winning smile to the advertisers. Seville got her staff lined up, made quick assignments and gave the girls a pep talk. Pretty soon, the ads were coming in and then came the task of writing out ad copy, contacting the firms and having pictures made. Taking time out for breath, Eaton spent many laboring hours figuring a close budget for the annual and with a great sigh of relief, sat back to look at the ad section of the book when it finally came out. Members of the staff are: Augusta Garth, Mary Gaither Whitener, Dawson Millikan, Patsy Moser, Nell Trask, Jane Hart, Clara Justice, Martha Scott, Ann Jenkins, Jane Parker, Betsy Farmer, Mary Lawrence, Peggy Bonner, Elizabeth Leland and Faye Stickney.

A list of advertisers is a tough compilation for any staff.

It took plenty of figuring to stay within the budget layed out.

Taylor, Green and Mr. Cashion print the news.

The business of putting out a weekly is pretty serious. Just look at the expressions on those faces.

THE SALEMITE

CAROLYN TAYLOR
Editor

What: a deadline to meet.
When: every Wednesday night.
Where: Salemite office and the Sun Printing Company.

How: by the sweat of each respective brow on the staff.

Why: to get campus news and views.

A beehive of activity, the Salemite office housed the brains behind the news, the power behind the throne, surveyed by chief Taylor. Beats were covered at the beginning of the week and every Wednesday night, the entire operation of putting out a paper was culminated by headline writing, revision of copy, proof-reading and those last final efforts which result in the weekly Salemite.

Members are: Associate Editors, Laurel Green, Mary Porter Evans; Assistant Editors, Peirano Aiken, Dale Smith; Make-up Editors, Helen Brown, Betty Biles; Copy Editors, Joan Carter Read, Clara Belle LeGrand; Pictorial Editors, Jane Kugler, Martha Hershberger; Music Editor, Margaret McCall; Editorial Assistants, Emelyn Gillespie, Ione Bradsher, Ruth Lenkoski, Catherine Moore, Dot Arrington, Jan Ballentine, Robert Gray, Logan Vaught, Winkie Harris, Sybil Haskins, Faye Stickney, Lola Dawson, Clinky Clinkscales; Typists, Janet Zimmer, Ann McConnell.

Privette, Schaum and McBrayer checked the books that supposedly balanced each week.

"How to get an ad" was the topic under way when this group got together.

Proof that there is action in organization was shown by the Salemite Business staff who pounded the streets and brought in the ads which made possible the weekly paper. Carson and McBrayer made a two-way lever that operated every other week in bringing in ads from the local business establishments and from big companies under National Advertising.

But getting ads was not the only worry the staff had. There was the business of getting the papers from the Sun Printing Co. and distributing them throughout the student body and faculty and then mailing Salemites to other schools. Another job to frown over was that of getting the right number of ad-inches each week, for having too many ads is just as big a headache as not having enough. At the end of the year, however, the books came up balanced and definitely in the black.

JOYCE PRIVETTE
Business Manager

MAY DAY COMMITTEE

Never was there a busier group upholding the traditions of Salem than the May Day Committee. Their ideas began the day after May Day last year, ideas simmered during the summer, school opened and spring finally came, bringing Queen Bailey and her attendants, who put surrounding nature to shame.

The money from the fashion shows and Wee Blue Inn; the activities of sewing, ordering flowers, fitting dresses, planning, electing the court and queen, practicing for the May Day dances and the coöperation from the entire student body—that is what it took to make the traditional May Day program a success.

DAY STUDENTS COMMITTEE

The Day Students Committee worked to make day students happy participants in college life. This group tried successfully to breach the gap between boarding students and day students. Toward this aim they gave teas, dances and joined with boarding students in playing Santa to the colored orphans. Also at Christmas, they got together and changed the Day Students Center into a room full of Christmas spirit, complete with holly and a tree.

Officers and members are: Chairman, Frances Reznick; Vice-Chairman, Ruth Morgan; Secretary, Jean Padgett; Treasurer, Ruth Van Hov; Bobby Lee and Jane Krauss.

MEN'S ORGANIZATION

Since 1947, Salem campus has been brightened considerably by the presence of the men students. Small in number, they are large in influence and have taken an active part in all campus organizations.

The "coeds," as we fondly call them, have not only entered into the older organizations but have formed an active and stimulating one of their own. Under the leadership of Robert Gray, the Men's Organization has sponsored smokers, dances and have formed athletic teams which have turned the hockey field into a small Yankee Stadium.

The Men's lounge, located in the catacombs along with the publication offices, reverberates continually with discussions ranging from politics to the latest skirt length. Classroom discussions have been heightened with the introduction of the male viewpoint, and the women students' everyday dress has been improved considerably with an eye toward male approval.

The Men's Organization, by its own merits and in its relation to our entire way of life at Salem, has added a sparkle to these century-old walls.

WHO'S WHO

AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

The purpose of Who's Who is to serve as an incentive for students to get the best results from their college experience; as a means of compensation to students for what they have already achieved; as a standard of measurement for students comparable to other recognized scholastic and service organizations, and as a recommendation of successful students to the business world.

The members were chosen for displaying merit in character, scholarship, leadership and potentiality for future usefulness in business and society. The girls have the advantage of a placement service conducted by the publication and used by over five hundred personnel directors of various firms.

Each year since 1934, the publication has recognized students from approximately six hundred colleges and universities in the United States and Canada.

The students who have been chosen from Salem this year are: Laurel Green, associate editor of the Salemite; Mary Patience McFall, president of the Education Club; Frances Reznick, off-campus vice-president of the Student Government; Carolyn Taylor, editor-in-chief of the Salemite; Eaton Seville, business manager of the SIGHTS AND INSIGHTS; and Nell Penn Watt, president of the Student Government.

I. R. C.

Speakers, debates, open forums or just a good bull session were on order for the monthly meetings of the IRC, whose members were kept informed on current happenings through the programs and group discussions afterwards. Events in Korea, Palestine, Japan, Russia and the United Nations were discussed throughout the year, along with questions of world peace, atomic energy and relief work in devastated European countries.

Working in cooperation with the World Federalists, the IRC tried to make the entire student body aware of world events and their importance. Together with the Salemite, the club sponsored a mock presidential election in the fall to allow all students to get the "feel" of voting.

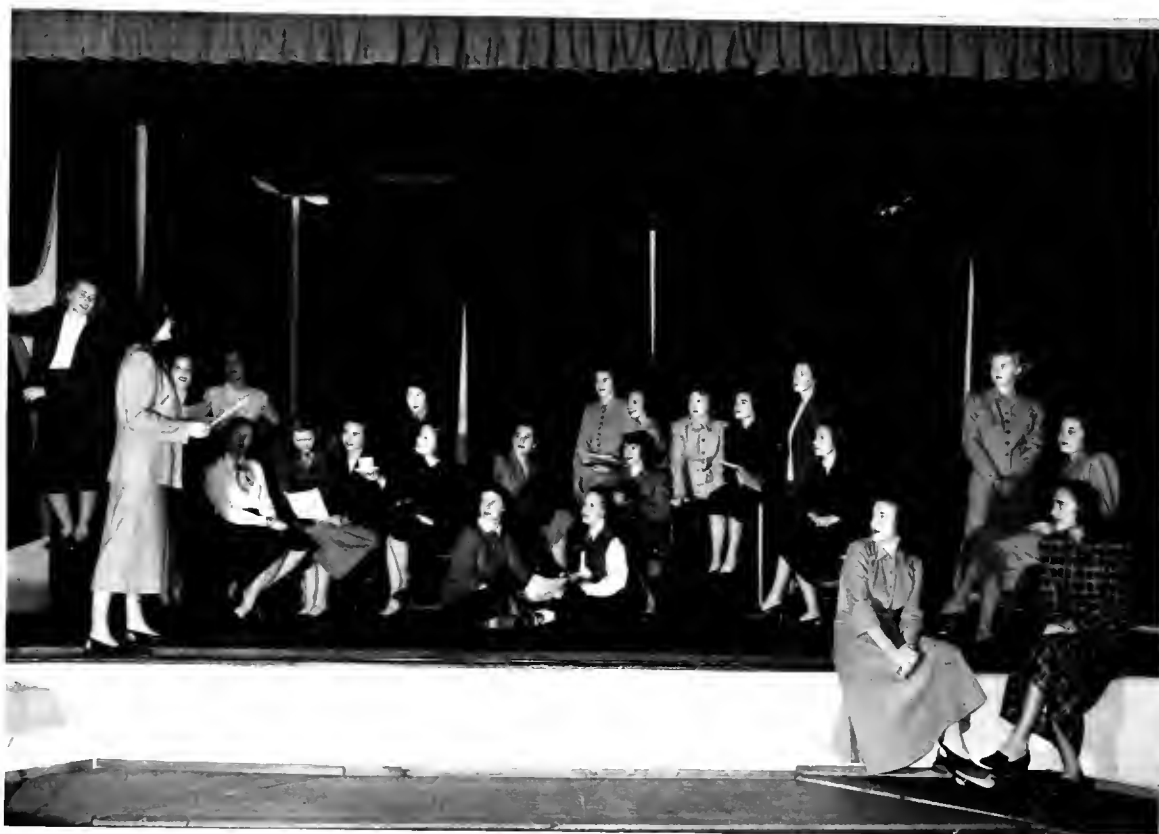

The IRC has tried to serve as a kind of open forum where faculty and students can get together to discuss and widen their views and information on what is shaping the world today. If Salem students have been made aware of contemporary affairs or at least aware of the tremendous problems in the world, the IRC has added its bit to Salem life and has accomplished its main purpose.

THE PIERRETTES

Working together for good play production on campus, with excellent help from their new director, Miss Elizabeth Reigner (alma mater—Northwestern and the United States Navy), the Pierrettes came through with a smashing good year.

Early in the fall, the club began their production of the Ferber-Kaufman hit play, "Stage Door". Rehearsals began and for a steady two months, members of the cast emoted under pressure and cracked a few jokes behind stage during rest period. Study was forgotten in a welter of activity—learning lines, mastering new styles of make-up and being completely outfitted by one of the leading dress shops. No play is complete without a masculine interest, and that problem was neatly handled. Several of Salem's past G.I.'s gave their all in the romantic leads and handled them like seasoned troupers.

The big opening night came in December and ran for two successful nights. The whole production is still vivid in the minds of all those who saw "Stage Door". The entire year itself was a success, and the Pierrettes have made dramatics a real interest at Salem through their own enthusiasm.

EDUCATION CLUB

The Education Club was organized for the benefit of those who are interested in the teaching profession. In an effort to make it as meaningful as possible, outside speakers were chosen from the educators in the city of Winston-Salem.

The whole education department has been renovated and with this shifting came a more directed supervision of the practice teachers. The Education Club became the pivot of interest around which Salem's practice teachers turned. The club made arrangements for less costly transportation to and from Reynolds and Gray High Schools, where most of the girls taught. During club meetings, the events of the teaching day were hashed out and experiences were swapped. The main questions were "Will I get through my unit?" and "Can I make my class understand this?"

Through the club, the importance of teaching was emphasized and an effort made to put better teachers in the schoolroom.

ALPHA IOTA PI

Though Alpha Iota Pi is the distinguished name of the Latin club, the club itself makes no such pretenses to classical grandeur as its name would imply. "Austeritas, Integritas and Pietas" are, indeed, the ideals which the members of the club try to live up to, but the organization is still one which has lots of fun and enjoys social meetings.

Their programs varied from serious to frivolous, sometimes a lecture and again entertainment. At one meeting, Dr. Smith, the adviser, told fortunes in keeping with the program on Roman superstitions. Those games that were played which called for knowledge of Latin words or some mythological character often resulted in red faces and stammers, but refreshments were served as compensation.

The Christmas meeting, held in Dr. Smith's apartment, was memorable from the singing of "Tinniat, tinniat!" until the last present was exchanged. The last meeting of the year always means picnic and at every Latin club picnic, the king of the evening is "porcus in vestibus". To those uneducated in the finer and tastier things in life, let us explain that this annual dish is made of a piece of cheese and bacon fried together.

DER DEUTSCHE VEREIN

The German Club, organized for students who have had a year or more of German, is one of the most timely organizations on campus. Since the war, Germany and the German people have been brought to the forefront and students of German have come more and more to realize the importance of studying the language of the people and the customs that have inevitably played a great part in forming the structure and general character of the German people. The psychological make-up of Germany is undoubtedly connected with language and history and for that reason, the club is a timely one.

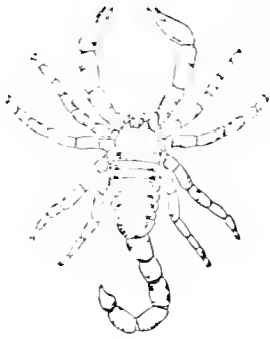

Allied with the study of language and customs is the traditional chapel program given during the Christmas season. At this assembly, the club members sang carols in the German language and told of customs native to the German people at Christmas.

The organization, under the leadership of Eleanor Davidson, has been one of the foremost groups on campus in sponsoring interest in general contemporary affairs and specifically in one field, that of German relations to the rest of the world.

ORDER OF THE SCORPION

Second row: Holbrook, Hurt, Johnson.

Third row: Lenkoski, McFall, Pearson, Seville.

Fourth row: Stacy, Taylor, Watkins, Watt.

The Order of the Scorpion is one of Salem's older organizations on campus, having been organized in the 1920's. The Scorpions have served as an auxiliary group at Salem for many years, supplementing the activities and the projects of the six major organizations on campus and doing small unnoticed jobs at Salem which are not brought to the attention of any other organization.

When the Order of the Scorpion was first organized, membership was made known to the student body. For a period of years, however, and up until this year, membership in the Scorpions was kept secret until the end of the year, when the names appeared in the yearbook. The Scorpions changed their policy of secrecy this year when the members were announced at a chapel program in the fall. Details of organization, methods of choosing members and place of meeting are still secret but the underlying policy of operation still goes on and the Scorpions continue to be respected by all those who come in contact with their work.

CHORAL ENSEMBLE

That old saying about wine, women and song has nothing on the Choral Ensemble. These women intoxicate an audience with song alone. The ensemble, under the direction of jovial and hard-working Mr. Paul Peterson, was a "must" with music majors; but it was open to all students who could give proof of more than the average shower-and-bathtub lung talent. All together the members numbered about forty-five.

The highlights of the choral year were the Christmas and spring concerts. The girls appeared in vari-colored formals—pastel and on the shoulders. (A daring strapless? Never!) The programs provided music for everyone's taste, selections ranging from Bach's "Break Forth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light" to Victor Herbert's "Thine Alone".

By way of performing for the general public, the singers also vibrated over the radio on the "Salem College On the Air" program, participated in Winston-Salem church services, and entertained at local music clubs and business dinners. Then, after a winter of home training, the ensemble departed in the spring for their annual concert tour. This was the reward for the long afternoon hours of vocalizing and memorizing in Old Chapel, where the rest of us often stopped outside to listen.

Officers for the year were: President, Margaret McCall; Secretary, Lucy Harper; Treasurer, Mary Jane Hurt; Business Manager, Helen Creamer; Publicity Manager, Sara Honeycutt; Librarian, Joan Johnson; Accompanist, Margaret McCall.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

The purpose of the organization of the French students is to stimulate an interest in the customs, language and culture of the French people. At the monthly meetings, Le Cercle Francais attempted to broaden the understanding and interests of the French students.

At the first meeting of the year, Mr. Robert Leach, professor of history, spoke on "Paris As I Saw it in 1948". He covered everything of possible interest about Paris in his talk and showed all the passports, cards and visas necessary for travel. The club could readily appreciate a first-hand account of Paris.

On the lighter side, plans were made in the spring for a French nightclub, complete with a torch singer and pink champagne, in order to raise money for French charity orphans. The atmosphere of pre-war Paris was created by checked tablecloths, candlelight and assorted French accents.

The year ended with a picnic more on the American plan consisting of hot-dogs and cokes by the out-door fireplace in the May Dell.

With Dr. Howard Jordan, head of the modern language department, as their adviser, the members of the French club had a successful year during which they felt they had learned a little more about modern France.

Officers and members are: President, Joan Carter Read; Vice-President, Faye Stickney; Secretary, Lee Rosenbloom; Treasurer, Clara Belle LeGrand; Mary Elizabeth Weaver, Jean Churchill, Kitty Burrus, Joan Hassler, Jo Llorens, Marta Fehrmann, Mary Elizabeth Elrick, Mary Delight Allen, Nina Gray, Jean Shoaf, Martha Hershberger, Winnifred Harris, and Joan Mills.

EL CLUB ESPANOL

The Spanish Club was organized in 1943 and is composed of those Salemites who are now studying Spanish. The members have corresponded with students of Spanish-speaking countries and at the present moment the aim of the club is to get members interested in Spanish life and customs as well as in the Spanish language.

One of the highlights during the year was a combined meeting with the French Club. The echoes of Spanish songs with French accents and vice-versa were not soon forgotten. Another meeting featured records of Cuban popular music. At Christmas, the club presented a colorful "pinata" party. Everybody received a "regalo" and "tortillas" were served. Not all of the meetings were gay fiestas; on more serious occasions, speakers lectured on Spanish art and music.

The Spanish Club found itself ahead of the other language clubs when Jo Llorens from Matanzas, Cuba was elected President. She and the Vice-President, Marta Fehrmann, also from Cuba, have brought the latest style in Rumba to the campus and have truly added the color and life that typifies the Spanish club.

Officers and members are: President, Jo Llorens; Vice-President, Marta Fehrmann; Secretary, Jean Shoaf; Treasurer, Zetta Cabrera; Emelyn Gillespie, Martha Harrison, Dot Arrington, Love Ryder, Carol Ann Daniels, Miriam Bailey, Elizabeth Taylor, Polly Hartle, Barbara Fisher, Betty Beck, Kenan Casteen, Clara Justice, Ann Coleman, Beverly Johnson, Wilma Pooser, Dottie Clemmer and Lou Davis.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics club is made up of those girls who are majors in the department and also any others who might be interested in the club and its activities.

The main project of the year for the club was the sponsoring of the ever-enjoyed Gingham Tavern. The girls picked out one of the larger smoke rooms on campus and literally turned it into a glorified night club. Then on that particular week-end, the room was swamped with dates and Salem stags watching a good floor show, featuring Hassler-originated imitations, the Salem Can-Can, cigarette girls in short, fluffy skirts, coeds "bringin' one right up!" and short, quick service on the sandwiches and Purple Passions by members of the faculty.

At Christmas time, the Home Economics Tea was one of the nicest events of the season. Proof of their training was evidenced by the delicious punch and the out-of-this-world cookies and cakes.

THE LABBLINGS

The Labblings have led the way this year to a fuller understanding of the importance of scientific developments to the present world situation.

Meeting once a month, the club sponsored speakers from Western Electric, Bowman Gray School of Medicine and the club itself. Discussions centered around current scientific topics ranging from the atomic bomb to the latest experiment with the influenza virus. The Labblings insisted on a more informal atmosphere at their meetings, with programs consisting of forums with questions and answers.

Mixing science and society, a positive reaction in meetings was created by serving refreshments in laboratory equipment. The Labblings drank punch out of beakers and ate marshmallows toasted over Bunsen burners.

And so it is seen that, combining the serious with the frivolous, the Labblings have been one of the most active departmental clubs on campus this year.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The purpose of the AA was to stimulate interest in a program of wholesome physical activities and to place an "accent on Athletics".

To open the season, it sponsored a rollicking bonfire, the faculty leading off with a yell to "Flunk' em again, harder, harder"! followed by cheers from each class.

In the fall, when that ruddy, healthy look was in vogue, the accent was on hockey, basketball and pingpong. In addition, the AA gave the freshmen a Hobgoblin Hoedown.

As the weather changed, activities changed to archery, softball, tennis, golf and swimming. Also the Valentine Dance and a Saddle Shoe Stomp were sponsored for the entire student body.

The AA banquet in May made the sports awards and honored with a blanket the senior who had won the most points in athletics.

Officers and members are: Vice-President, Betty Wolfe; Secretary, Jan Ballentine; Treasurer, Mary Jane Hurt; Helen Kessler, Martha Hershberger, Bev Johnson, Cacky Pearson, Nancy Wray, Emily Warden, Clinky Clinkscales, Peggy Harrill, Jo Dunn, Joyce Privette, Ann Jenkins, Polly Harrop, Eaton Seville, Adviser, Miss Helen Stout.

PEGGY WATKINS
President

The gals stopped work on the AA signboard for a good joke from Clinky.

At the AA bonfire, the faculty stole the show with a cheer to "Flunk'em Again"!

MONOGRAM CLUB

The Monogram Club is composed of girls who have won athletic letters through outstanding participation in hockey, basketball and softball and through an accumulation of points in minor activities.

Beginning this year, the Monogram Club became officially represented on the AA Council. This new twosome joined forces to make the AA Formal one of the biggest events of the year. Given near Valentine's Day, the dance was held in the gym, though quite altered in appearance. Red and white balloons filled with helium formed a gigantic heart in the roof of the gym and red and white was repeated throughout the length of the gym, creating quite an atmosphere of color and gaiety.

The Monogram Club encouraged larger attendance at the athletic games by catering to that "ever starving student stomach". The Milky Ways, Fifth Avenues, the cokes and apples, after the credit purchasers were finally brought to justice, provided the pennies for the informal athletic recreation sponsored by the Monogram Club.

Members of the club are: Nell Penn Watt, Betty Ann Epps Pearson, Carolyn Taylor, Eaton Seville (representative to the AA Council), Sylvia Green, Peggy Ann Watkins, Laurel Green, Betty Wolfe, Araluen Clinkscales, and Janis Ballentine.

FEATURE GIRLS OF 1949

MISS JEANNE DUNGAN, SENIOR, OF SALISBURY, N. C. Who can say what makes Jeanne a typical Salemite? She has nothing of the unusual about her and yet she stands for so many of the intangible qualities at Salem . . . the unassuming manner . . . the dry wit that's quick to catch a joke and quick to see the amusing . . . the air of friendliness and informality . . . the much-prized Pika pin . . . the frequent week-ends at Davidson . . . the six weeks at the Home Economics Practice House and ordering all the groceries . . . the sincerity and interest in everybody's troubles . . . an everpresent smile . . . the personality that we'll all remember when our college life has long been over . . . that's Jean-Bean.

MISS PATSY MOSER, SENIOR, OF GASTONIA, N. C. Take a mixture of frolic and fun, dependability, a dash of the whimsical and plenty of capability and that's Patsy . . . a tiny little thing . . . an avid Duke fan, with a special enthusiasm for football and Robert . . . a conscientious Home Ec-er with an eye for a bargain and a feel for fashion . . . a Salemite with real understanding and a sympathetic ear . . . our Senior class president . . . a pair of big baggy striped pajamas and a new haircut . . . a jitterbug enthusiast with that Myrtle Beach shag . . . a Salemite who loves fine piano-playing, particularly in the modern vein . . . an all-round girl you'd be proud to know . . . it all adds up to Patsy.

MISS CAROLYN DUNN, JUNIOR, OF KINSTON, N.C. A girl like Carolyn would make a northerner want to move south, for in her one sees a zest for living that is contagious upon first contact. Her spirit is continually in the clouds and her manner, though quiet and unobtrusive, is immediately distinguishable. In her are combined the spirits of youth and maturity . . . a steady line of thought . . . a love for knitting argyles . . . summer days at Morehead . . . special weekends all saved for Carolina . . . a terrific southern drawl . . . a Coca-Cola girl . . . neatness personified . . . her class president . . . easy to please and hard to anger . . . a crinkled-up smile and pearly white teeth with a tan to match . . . Carolyn.

MISS LOUISE STACY, JUNIOR, OF LUMBERTON, N.C. We couldn't be happier that Stacy was elected a Feature Girl for she is the epitome of true gracious living. Soft-spoken and never flustered, there seems to be a sort of glow that makes Stacy what she is . . . as dependable as she is efficient . . . the quiet voice in a room full of screaming girls . . . always ready to help . . . a lady wherever she goes, whether to a big formal or in a basketball game . . . a Pierrette in her spare time . . . sincere through and through . . . as neat as the well-known pin . . . secretary of the Stee Gee . . . a frequent visitor to Carolina . . . a true-blue gal . . . Stacy.

ELECTED BY EACH CLASS

MISS JANE HART, SOPHOMORE, OF KINSTON, N. C. Jane, another Kinstonite with a drawn-out southern accent, is our versatile Salemite. Since her freshman year, when she was elected president of her class, Jane has gone all out for Salem and, conversely, Salem has gone all out for Jane. There's something about her you're bound to like. Maybe it's the slow smile or maybe it's the way she never gets bothered. Even exams don't frustrate Jane, while most of us are tearing our hair out. Anyway, here she is . . . a swell person . . . a true diplomat . . . cooperative to the nth degree . . . plays fine basketball . . . can head her class or be a party girl . . . we're all out for Jane.

MISS SARA HONEYCUTT, SOPHOMORE, OF SHELBY, N. C. If forced for an answer, we'd have to admit that we'd rather hear Sara play a piano that eat when we're hungry. There are all kinds of piano players in the world, but Sara has got chords that just won't stop! When she arrived at Salem, Sara was just fresh out of a swing orchestra and during her entire freshman year, she was dragged from one dorm to the other just to play "How Deep Is the Ocean." A Music major, Sara is by no means one-sided. If you've a new record, she'd love to listen or better still, jitterbug. She's full of music, smiles, a good word for everybody and plenty of talent . . . Sis.

MISS CAROLYN BUTCHER, FRESHMAN, OF CHARLOTTE, N. C. Adding her name to the list of those who wear the Charlotte blazer, Carolyn joins the throng of those who travel from the biggest to the next biggest—from Charlotte to Winston-Salem. Carolyn is not the girl who hits Salem with a bang. She comes with a quiet, unassuming air, yet you'd always know she was around. She's the kind one appreciates more and more each day . . . conscientious to the very last . . . a fiend for high school memories . . . a slow smile . . . and that enviable soft brown hair . . . an aspirant to the literary world . . . a freshman fully appreciated . . . a girl you'd be proud to know . . . that's Carolyn.

MISS BETSY HAYES, FRESHMAN, OF WILSON, N. C. Another homeloving body who joins in the chorus of "Beautiful, Beautiful Wilson," that's Betsy. A mixture of extremes . . . satin on week-ends . . . jeans in the smokehouse . . . popular during Rat Week for her imitations . . . progressively more popular as the year went on . . . professional on the basketball court . . . a leader in smokehouse antics . . . secretary of her class . . . a Carolina fan . . . a crinkled smile . . . that new-look hair-do . . . mostly fun . . . but a sincere friend to all . . . a freshman who has captured all of Salem . . . add all these up, look around some more and you still couldn't get a better answer than . . . Bet.

READ
before you decide on your profession

DURING the next six years, half a million teaching positions will be available in the United States. Thousands of men and women are needed to replace inadequately prepared teachers now in the schools, to fill the vacancies caused by normal turnover, and to meet the needs of the five million additional children born during wartime. There is a need for elementary and high school teachers, college instructors, principals, superintendents, and educational specialists of every kind.

Now you know the law of supply and demand. When your kind of training and ability are needed, offers for it are made more and more attractive.

That is what's happening in the teaching profession. Many communities are taking steps to improve their local school conditions—some are granting salary increases—North Carolina has established a definite minimum salary schedule for teachers.

The ability to teach is a special gift, a valued talent, and no profession provides greater personal satisfaction than teaching. If you are a "burn teacher"—make your decision now to join this honored profession. For "Our Teachers Mold Our Nation's Future," and America's future has need of you.
